

POW Leaders Surrender

Opposition Ends In Koje Camp Breakup

Koje Island, Korea, Wednesday, June 11—(AP)—The Allied command today split up 6,288 more North Korean prisoners without opposition in the second day of operation break-up—designed to divide and conquer Koje's 80,000 balking Communist prisoners.

In sharp contrast to Tuesday's bloody riot, the inmates of compound 77 weekly lined up in groups of 150 in a driving rainstorm an hour and a half before the dispersal began.

On Tuesday, the tough inmates of compound 76 batted vainly at a cost of 31 dead to resist transfer. Many of the 31 were killed by fellow prisoners for reluctance to fight.

The prisoners of Compound 77 today waited for U. S. paratroopers to march them off to smaller compounds. Promptly at 9 a.m. the separation began.

The leaders of Compound 77 surrendered Tuesday after watching the pitched battle in adjoining Compound 76. They sent word to Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner they were ready to "surrender."

With today's operation the number of prisoners re-settled by "Bull Boatner" totaled 12,688.

To Be Well Treated

He has assured the prisoners they will be well treated if they abide by the rules and move into smaller compounds—built recently to assure firmer control. He warned the Reds he would use maximum force if necessary to overcome resistance.

Boatner backed up his warning spectacularly Tuesday when prisoners in notorious Compound 76—prodded on by fanatical North Korean leaders—resisted U. S. paratroopers assigned to move them.

After the flaming tear gas-swept compound was cleared a checkup showed 31 prisoners were killed and 139 wounded in the bitter two-hour battle. No shots were fired.

One American Killed

One American soldier was killed—bleeding to death from a spear thrust—and 14 wounded. It had first been reported the American was slain by a concussion grenade.

Many of the captives were killed by die-hard prisoners when they tried to quit the battle against the paratroopers of the 187th Airborne combat regiment.

Boatner issued a statement Tuesday night describing how some 1,500 of 6,000 Reds made a last-ditch stand in the southwest corner of the stockade.

Intelligence officers reported uncovering a prisoner plot to seize Koje Island. However, Boatner's latest report mentioned only that a detailed map had been found which showed how the Reds aimed to defend Compound 76.

Before beginning the tough "Operation Breakup" early Tuesday, Boatner summoned North Korean Col. Lee Hak Koo to the gate of Compound 76 and told him to prepare the inmates for the transfer.

The Red Colonel—who figured in the May 7 kidnapping of Brig. Gen. (now Colonel) Francis T. Dodd in Compound 76—was told he would be held responsible for any bloodshed resulting from disobedience of orders.

Hudelson Not To Talk On Korean Views

Los Angeles, June 10—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Hudelson, who returned from Korea saying the Communists can overrun the United Nations forces whenever they choose, said today the Army has warned him that any further public statements he makes should be released through regular military channels.

The reserve officer, who commanded Southern California's 40th division in Korea, stirred up a furor with his statements on Red strength in Korea.

Hudelson said he was called on the telephone today by Gen. William B. Kean, commanding general at Ft. MacArthur, Southern California army headquarters. Earlier Hudelson had been asked to report at Ft. MacArthur today but the phone call apparently took care of the matter.

Hudelson said Kean, acting for the Sixth army headquarters, called and "reminded me that there was a policy on press releases with which I should be familiar." General Hudelson said he did not consider this a direct attempt to gag him. Hudelson said it was suggested that any public statements should be issued through regular channels.

Asked if he considered this a gag, Hudelson replied to a reporter: "Well, if I'm separated from the army within a day or two I wouldn't." Hudelson said that if his separation from the services is delayed the action might be subject to some other interpretation.

The Chicago Tribune, in a dispatch from Los Angeles by Seymour Korman, said Hudelson was being interviewed by the Tribune correspondent when the telephone call came from Kean.

The dispatch said Hudelson told the Tribune after the call: "I have to shut up for the time being, but I'll have plenty more to say when I do get out of the army."

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. immediately expressed thorough disagreement with Hudelson's views. Pace said any opinion that United Nations forces would be defeated if the Communists should attack "is contrary to everything that our highest military leaders in the field—the men who know most about the situation—have to report."

"I repeat that the Reds have enough manpower to overrun any sector they choose to attack," General Hudelson reiterated today in talking with a reporter.

Predict Second Largest Wheat Crop In History

Washington, June 10—(AP)—The second largest wheat crop in history appears to be in the fields, and other food and livestock feed crops are progressing normally to promise a bountiful harvest, the Agriculture department reported today.

The wheat crop was forecast at 1,326,157,000 bushels, or only 33 million bushels short of the record produced in 1947.

The indicated crop would be about a third larger than last year's harvest of 987,474,000 bushels and would exceed the average crop by about 241,000,000 bushels.

By comparison, the government had set a wheat goal of 1,165,000,000 bushels. If the forecast is borne out in the harvest, wheat reserves would be built above levels officials have said are desirable, in addition to supplying large quantities for export.

No forecasts were given on any other major crop. But the report said prospects are considerably better than average throughout most of the country.

An early start in planting corn was possible in much of the mid-western corn belt and most of the acreage was planted by June 1.

However, growth of this year's corn has been a little slow, the department said, because of cool, wet weather in May. The department has asked for a sharp increase in corn production to meet needs of an expanding livestock and poultry industry.

Prevent Kidney Stones With New Drug, AMA Told

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—Painless shots of a mystery drug can prevent growth of painful and dangerous kidney stones, the American Medical Association was told today.

The drug is hyaluronidase, an enzyme that softens tissues it touches. It's used to take the pain out of swellings and the bite out of some drug injections, and to make local anesthetics spread farther.

It does a curious thing to ward off kidney stones. Injected under the skin, hyaluronidase causes the release of some of the jelly-like cement material that holds human bodies together.

This jelly material floats away, and gets finally to the kidneys. There it puts a coating on the chemical crystals which form kidney stones. The coating prevents the crystals from growing larger and becoming hard stones.

The drug prevented growth of new stones in four out of five persons taking the shots daily or every two days for a year to 21 months, three scientists reported.

Five million Americans are estimated to have kidney stones. The stones can cause infection and kidney blockage, and are blamed for causing one of every 250 deaths and for loss of a third of all kidneys removed surgically.

TV Audience Sees Operation On Man

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—An operation on a human patient was televised over a national network for the first time tonight.

The National Broadcasting company said some 30 million persons saw part of an operation on a 60-year-old man known to the TV audience as "Mr. T." The operation was for removal of most of his ulcer-damaged stomach.

The program was telecast over 40 stations, NBC said.

It was a demonstration of medical techniques sponsored by the Smith, Kline and French laboratories of Philadelphia in connection with the American Medical Association convention here.

Dr. Samuel Fogelson, assistant professor of surgery at Northwestern University, headed the operating staff of four doctors during the telecast from Wesley Memorial hospital.

General Douglas MacArthur

GOP Names MacArthur Convention Keynoter

By the Associated Press

Republicans picked Gen. Douglas MacArthur Tuesday to keynote their national political convention. They handed to friends of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio two out of three of the other top posts at the convention.

Backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower protested the choice of MacArthur, a Taft supporter, but were overrudden.

MacArthur at once accepted the assignment to whip up a speech that will sound the rallying call for the convention that starts in Chicago July 7 and for the campaign that lies beyond.

The Army said in Washington it plans no action as a result of the acceptance. Military regulations forbid "activity at political conventions" and "the making of political speeches" by officers on active duty. MacArthur still is active, although without a command.

While the committee making arrangements for the convention was at work in Chicago, this was going on elsewhere along the political firing lines:

Eisenhower was busy in New York trying to round up some of the 57 convention votes from split or disputed delegations from Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina. Today he will be courting 24 Maryland votes that are lined up in a party ballot for Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

Three senators who want to be president were applauded separately and loudly when they turned up for a joint session of Senate and House that heard President Truman ask Congress to pass a law giving him power to seize and operate the steel industry.

Taft, blushing like a school boy, was one of them. He grinned every time Truman took a pot shot at the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, trying for the Democratic nomination, showed up, too, along with the leading Democratic contender, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Kefauver and Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman were busy on the side making a bid for the six delegates the District of Columbia will send to the Democratic convention opening July 21 in Chicago.

But the activities in and around the Republican arrangements committee overshadowed the other maneuvers. In addition to picking MacArthur for keynoter, the committee selected:

Walter S. Hallahan of West Virginia, another Taft man, to be temporary chairman of the convention. He will be in a position to make key rulings affecting the seating of disputed pro-Taft or pro-Eisenhower delegates.

Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado, a Taft backer, to head the committee that draws up the party platform.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr. of Massachusetts to serve in his usual role of permanent chairman. Martin has said kind words about MacArthur as a possible presidential choice but has taken no sides openly as between Taft and Eisenhower.

As a result of the selections by the arrangements committee, Eisenhower forces came out of the preliminary skirmishing without a single major office at the convention. Taft started with a clear cut victory.

HOUSE PASSES IMMIGRATION BILL

Washington, June 10—(AP)—A compromise bill broadly revising the immigration laws and slightly raising annual immigration quotas was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

It previously had cleared both chambers, but differences between the two versions made the compromise necessary.

Senate approval of the compromise was expected.

Today's House action was by standing vote of 203 to 53. The bill raises to 154,658 the number of aliens who could enter this country annually for citizenship. This is an increase of 380 over what existing law permits.

CROSBY TO MAKE TV DEBUT

New York, June 10—(AP)—Bing Crosby will make his television debut Saturday, June 21, in a benefit "Telephone" appearance with Bob Hope. It was announced today.

The crooner will appear with Hope in a 14-and-a-half-hour program starting at 9 p.m. (CST) for the benefit of the American Olympic committee. CBS-TV said.

The all-night marathon will be carried on CBS-TV and NBC-TV.

Use Taft-Hartley Law, Senate Tells Truman

Taft Asserts HST, Murray Planned Deal

Washington, June 10—(AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) accused President Truman today of trying to get Congress to carry out a White House "deal" with CIO-Steelworkers President Philip Murray for seizure of the industry.

The aim, he said, was to get the union a pay raise without the bother of a strike, then confront the mill owners with an accomplished fact.

The Ohioan presented that view in talking with reporters about the president's call to Congress today for the seizure powers the Supreme Court has said he does not have.

Then with arguments based on that outline he helped quarterbacks a senate majority that handed the president a series of swift rebuffs and wound up with adoption of a legislative demand that the president use the Taft-Hartley act instead.

The 49 to 30 rollcall on the T-H law proposal, authored by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), underlined topheavy votes against three varying forms of seizure authority.

Tomorrow the senators get still another crack at the idea of dealing with security-threat labor disputes. Just before the senate quit for the day a proposal by Senator Morse (Ore.) for a form of seizure was made the pending business.

Under that plan the president could proclaim an emergency, report to Congress and seize in almost simultaneous steps. Congress could veto his action within 10 days and government operation would be limited to 60 days unless Congress extended it. The government could change wages and working conditions but could not impose the union shop, in which all workers must be union members. It could seize a portion of the plants' income to hold them down to a pre-Korea average.

There was no sign the Morse plan would fare any better than the other seizure formulas.

In his address to Congress only five hours before the vote on the Byrd proposal, Truman had specifically said he did not want to use Taft-Hartley with its 80-day injunction provision, and doubted that it would work.

Malik Refuses Plan For Limit On Armed Forces

United Nations, N.Y., June 10—(AP)—Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik today turned down a western proposal for voluntary ceilings on the armed forces of the five great powers, calling the plan a new song to an old tune.

The Russian delegate blasted the proposal in an hour-long speech to the U.N. disarmament commission. He insisted that the commission accept the Russian plan for a cut of one-third of the armed forces of the five big powers, a plan repeatedly rejected by the U.N.

France last month called for the United States, Russia and China each to put a limit of 15 million men on their military establishments, including all types of armed effectiveness, and for France and Britain to agree to a ceiling of 800,000 men each.

The western powers said these proposals were merely one part of the whole picture of disarmament.

Honor J. C. Penney For 50 Years Of Store Building

New York, June 10—(AP)—Some of the nation's leading retailers paid tribute at a luncheon today to J. C. Penney who, starting with a single store 50 years ago, built the world's largest chain of department stores.

The 76-year-old founder of the company bearing his name told his fellow merchants, at the session of the Sales Executive Club of New York, that the golden rule not only was a good practice in human relations, but that it paid off in business dividends.

Penney said that developing and safeguarding the human dignity of employees—his company calls them "associates"—is of vital importance in the success of a business.

Penney said his firm, the J. C. Penney Co., now has 1,625 stores in all the 48 states, employs 70,000 persons and had sales last year in excess of one billion dollars.

READY FOR RUSSIAN TREATY

Tokyo, June 10—(AP)—A Japanese foreign office spokesman said today Japan was ready to consider a treaty with Russia "if one is proposed."

NO LOANS FOR HOMES NEAR AIRPORTS

Washington, June 10—(AP)—The veterans administration has told its field offices not to act on loans for veterans' homes located within four miles of an airport.

Instead, a VA spokesman told a reporter today, the loan applications are to be sent to headquarters in Washington. It is to decide here whether they should be granted or not.

The spokesman said the action resulted from drops in land and home values near airports all over the nation following a series of crashes in Elizabeth, N. J., near the Newark airport.

Says Ike Will Bring Two Party System Back To South

New York, June 10—(AP)—A Georgia backer of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that if he is nominated for the presidency, "Eisenhower will bring the two-party system back to the south."

Robert Snodgrass of Atlanta, member of a Georgia group that met the general today, went on to say that if Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia is not nominated by the Democrats, and if Eisenhower is the GOP standard-bearer, "I think Georgia unquestionably would be carried by the Republicans for the first time."

A similar view respecting North Carolina was expressed by James M. Bailey, chairman of his state's delegation, after this group talked with Eisenhower. He said:

"The sentiment of Democratic and Independent voters in my state convinces me that we have a fighting chance of carrying the state with Eisenhower as the Republican candidate."

Bailey said Eisenhower told the group he would campaign in the south, if nominated. He was "very definite," Bailey said.

Eisenhower, continuing his round of meetings with state delegations, saw groups from Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina today. He has been seeing the state GOP delegates at his residence, the president's mansion at Columbia University.

Snodgrass qualified his opinion by saying "we all have real affection for Senator Russell."

But if Russell fails to win the Democratic nomination, he said, he believed Eisenhower would carry the state.

Bailey, however, said he thought Eisenhower could carry North Carolina even if the Democrats name a southerner as their candidate. In addition to Russell, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is contending for the Democratic nomination.

Police On Alert But Doubt Stories Of Blue Phantom

Springfield, Ill., June 10—(AP)—The head of Illinois' State Police said today he doubted there is a "Blue Phantom" gunman shooting at cars on Illinois highways.

"It could be true," said State Police Chief Thomas J. O'Donnell, "and we are continuing our intense investigation of these reports."

"But, frankly, we doubt it." At least 16 motorists have reported they were shot at by one or more gunmen in a blue or dark automobile. Most of the reports came from drivers in Illinois but recently Indiana police received similar complaints.

Three persons said they were slightly injured when "bullets" shattered their windshields. Illinois and Indiana State Police have been searching for a possible sharpshooter.

O'Donnell told a reporter that his investigators have concluded that nearly all of the "Blue Phantom" incidents resulted from stones hitting cars or from the setting off of "torpedo" firecrackers.

"We have not relaxed our search and we are investigating every case," said the State Police chief, "but we are not convinced there is a phantom gunman or that any shots were fired in most of the 'shooting incidents' reported."

"We have yet to find anyone who saw a gun or who could give any thing definite about the description of the sniper. On the other hand we have a maze of vague and conflicting information that does not add up to the conclusion that one gunman is causing all these reports."

An investigator reported to O'Donnell that there was only one instance in which there was conclusive evidence that a bullet had been fired at a car.

Meanwhile, the State Police continued to receive "Blue Phantom" alarms.

The latest came from a policeman, Lawrence Brown, 38, Marengo, Ill., which is near the Illinois-Wisconsin line.

Argentinian City Shaken By Violent Earthquake

Buenos Aires, Argentina, June 10—(AP)—Thousands fled in panic tonight as a violent earthquake toppled buildings in the provincial capital of San Juan.

The city of San Juan was partly destroyed nine years ago when an earthquake caused widespread damage and killed thousands.

There were no immediate reports of deaths in tonight's quake. The epicenter of the quake was apparently in a sparsely occupied region.

The first shocks were felt at 2:30 p.m. (6:33 p.m. CST).

CHILDREN AND MUSIC
Some sort of emotional reaction to music seems to be felt by the average adult. It may defy analysis by the individual without musical training, if he ever stops to think about it, or find no more specific expression than "Turn that blamed thing off!" when the radio offends.
Then again it may produce exhilaration or depression of spirit for reasons difficult to define.

What can music be made to do for the normal person? Nobody pretends to know. But at Teachers College, Columbia University a year's study will begin next fall to try to find out how music does, or can be made to, influence educational progress and the behavior of normal children as individuals or in association. Two third-grade classes from public schools will be the subject of the experiment.

At a time of intense research in the realm of physics and chemistry, when the populace is warned against becoming too mechanistic here is the beginning of research no less scientific in the domain of the human spirit. The study involves cooperation with the music department of Teachers College by the Board of Education and the Music Research Foundation, a nonprofit organization studying employment of music as an aid to medicine. A grant by the foundation has made the study possible.

This study will not be concerned with the influence of music on disturbed personalities. What it will seek to begin to ascertain—the year of study is not expected to be in any sense conclusive—is the constructive values music can have on these youngsters singly and in groups.
Can it in the case of children not yet in their teens promote enjoyment and at the same time be a stimulus to study?

How is it possible to break down the seeming indifference to music of some children, who regard it as merely an academic task? How is it possible to overcome the tendency of some musically gifted pupils to do inferior work in other studies? Is it because they are so enamored of music they do not think anything else worth while? If so, can this attitude of mind be changed?
Out of such a study continued over a longer period than a year, might evolve data of value to pedagogics and to child psychology.

"WHY IS IT BLACK WHEN THE FIRE GOES OUT?"

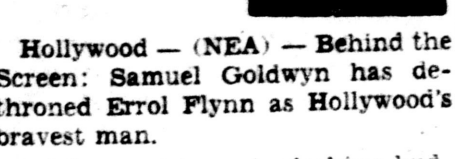

BY HAL BOYLE
New York.—(P)—Children are superior to grownups because they have a greater sense of wonder.
Adults are always fretting about such dull topics as whether there will be another world war soon and who will be the next president.
Such prosaic cares never disturb the curly hair of my Godchild, Nina, a month away from her fifth birthday.
No grownup can know the enchantment of a child's mind, because he loses the fresh joy of discovery.
A child would like to know everything about everything, he flooded me at once with all the knowledge of the universe. Grownups have no such desire. Time and boredom too often build a wall around their minds.
Nina looks like an exclamation point and she is a living question mark.
What does a young lady "going to live" want to know? Well, her mother scotch-taped a piece of paper on the kitchen wall and scabbled down the questions Nina asked.
Here are a few from a two-day
list:
"Why is it black when the fire goes out?"
"How do you get hungry?"
"Why does everybody in the whole world have to go to church and Sunday school?"
"Do you love us (Nina and her sister) even when we are bad?"
"Do snakes come in houses?"
"Are there any lions and tigers in the whole world?"
"Why do people need lights?"
"If we ate something at someone else's house and you didn't want us to, how would you know?"
"Why don't mommies go to school?"
"What color are crows' eyes?"
"How do people make people?"
"How do people get in the whole world?"
"Why is there a moon in the morning?"
"How does your nose get dirty?"
"Why do you get measles?"
"How do you forget?"
Her mother gave me the slip of paper and suggested that, if I wanted to carry out my duties as a Godfather, I might start in supplying Nina with the answers.

Hollywood — (NEA) — Behind the Screen: Samuel Goldwyn has dethroned Errol Flynn as Hollywood's bravest man.
While movietown is slashing budgets and swinging the economy excitement to meet TV competition, Sam's pouring $3,000,000 into a super-colossal Technicolor fairy tale about a fairy tale teller. "Hans Christian Andersen." His reasoning:
"Only great motion pictures count today," he told me. "I'm doing something unusual. I'm going to show people things they've never seen on the screen."
Co-starring Danny Kaye and French ballerina Jeanne Marie, "Hans" features 40 minutes of ballet, including a 15 minute, eye-popping "Little Mermaid" number in which Jeanne Marie dances on ocean waves and in an undersea grotto.
And take it from Goldwyn: "It's the most effective number I've ever put on the screen."
As an independent producer, Goldwyn's free to sell his tremendous library of films to TV and he admits he's had "fabulous" offers.
"But I'm turning them all down,"
he said. "I still believe great motion pictures belong in theaters."
"EMBARASSING" FUSS
Diana Lynn is bristling over the out-loud guessing that her busty likeness on the cover of a national magazine has put gallons of zip and zing into her movie career.
If she's way out in front in the lywood suddenly discovered that she was Jane Russell-ish in the mustard plaster region.

She'd like to think, Diana remarked, that she earned her new role in UI's "The Great Companions" by dint of hard work on the stage and in television during the past year.
"It's all kind of embarrassing," shuddered Diana. "Suddenly, I'm a all the fuss about?"

Ezio Pinza may have his doubts about making another great lover

And gamble is just what Ezio means.
"I'll do it for nawtheing and take dor Chalapin in Fox's "Tonight We Sing." "I think I make more money.

We are too afraid of Hollywood. Ees raddy. The poobleec ees raddy. If Fox or MGM do a movie opera, the poobleec well rosh to see it."

Pinza's playing Chalapin in a

PASS THE SMELLING SALTS
Fasten your seat straps, readers—there's a dazler in movie-town who's asked her studio not to refer to her as a beauty.
She's gorgeous Janice Rule of MGM, who has me popping my eyes like Eddie Cantor over her "I'm Not Hedy" cry. Janice, who's Peter Lawford's co-star in "Rogue's March," told me that "I want to be known as a good dancer and a capable actress, but I can do without this raving beauty stuff. I don't see how it can help me."
It was Anthony Beauchamp, Sarah Churchill's photographer husband, who started Janice squirming over the super-looker tag when he named her as one of Hollywood's 10 greatest beauties last year in a national magazine.
"It was a very embarrassing thing," sighed Janice. "Thank goodness, most people have forgotten about it."

Written for NEA Service
A correspondent who signs herself "Anxious Reader" says that she is most interested in the vast number of reports of twins, triplets, and even quadruplets who are born and she wonders if these are increasing.
This is indeed an interesting subject, but so far as I know there is no reason to believe that the frequency of plural births is increasing.
The only thing that may be influencing this picture is that there seems to be a greater chance of having more than one child at a single birth as the mother gets older, at least until about the age of 35 to 39.
If more women of this age bracket are having children, there could, therefore, be a slight increase in the number of multiple births.
As things stand today, twins are born once in about 90 births.
The chances of having triplets are,
of course, much less than chances of having twins, and this occurs in about one in 800 confinements. The likelihood of giving birth to quadruplets is even less, namely about one in 620,000, which would mean that four or five sets of quadruplets would be born in the United States each year.
The subject of the chances of having multiple children at one birth cannot be dismissed without referring to quadruplets, or five. So far as this writer knows, only two sets of quintuplets have survived past infancy.
This is not surprising since it has been estimated that quintuplets can be expected about once in 57 million confinements.
There are two kinds of twins.
Fraternal twins are the result of the fertilization of two eggs. Such twins may be of the same sex or of opposite sex. Except for having identical birthdays, they may be as different from each other as any other brothers or sisters, both physically and mentally.
Most Born Prematurely Identical twins are the result of the fertilization of a single egg which later divides. Identical twins are always of the same sex and are

Chances of Multiple Births Greater as Mothers Near 40

There are apparently about a fourth as many identical twins as fraternal twins.
There is a tendency for twins and other multiple children to be born prematurely. This means that they are comparatively poorly developed at the time of birth and therefore have a decreased chance of living past infancy.
When Roosevelt saw that the convention was in the hands of his opponents, he issued a scorching blast and urged his followers to participate no longer in the voting.
Roosevelt's followers then nominated him as presidential candidate of their new Progressive party.
The result: The Republican party smashed wide open, with Roosevelt getting 88 electoral votes to only eight for Taft. Wilson won on the Democratic ticket with 435 electoral votes.

The World Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The scalding bitterness between the Taft and Eisenhower camps may boil over in their struggle to seat rival delegates at the Republican national convention next month.
The contest now is focused on disputed delegates in Texas, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi.
If the fight becomes too fierce, it may split the Republicans into such hostile camps that it will cost the party the election.

The senator's father, President Howard Taft, went through this experience 40 years ago in a rivalry with ex-President Theodore Roosevelt.
The struggle split the party. Roosevelt ran against Taft on an opposition ticket. The divided Republican vote let Democrat Woodrow Wilson win the election easily.
When he was elected in 1904 Theodore Roosevelt said he wouldn't seek or accept another nomination. When the 1908 elections came around he handpicked Taft, his friend and associate, as his successor. And the Republican convention that year accepted Roosevelt's choice. Taft was elected.

But not all of Roosevelt's followers liked Taft's four-year administration. They told Roosevelt when he came back from an African hunting trip before the 1912 elections. They persuaded him to try for another White House term.
He drummed up convention delegates in the 13 states which had presidential preference primaries. He swamped Taft. But most states had no primaries and there the Republican politicians had a word to say for Taft.

Historian Harold U. Faulkner, in his "American politics and social history," gives a picture of what followed:
"Administration (Taft) delegates, handpicked from the south, gave Taft a larger nucleus to start with. And the national committee and the credentials saw to it that the disputes were decided in favor of the regular Republican machine."
When Roosevelt saw that the convention was in the hands of his opponents, he issued a scorching blast and urged his followers to participate no longer in the voting.

Roosevelt's followers then nominated him as presidential candidate of their new Progressive party.
The result: The Republican party smashed wide open, with Roosevelt getting 88 electoral votes to only eight for Taft. Wilson won on the Democratic ticket with 435 electoral votes.

The national committee and the credentials committee, just as 40 years ago, will be the key group deciding what Taft or Eisenhower delegates this year can be seated and take part in the nominations.
And, as in 1912, the big fight will be over delegates from the south where the Eisenhower people claim the Taftites squeezed them out.

Idaho Power Company is bucking the project

The project here, Bureau of Reclamation will build all dams upstream. Engineers will handle all flood control and navigation works. Reclamation will handle all power sales and irrigation projects.
More Than 20 Dams Are Done Or Being Built
Over 100 dams have been proposed for this river system. Twenty-five are done or under construction.
Most of the dams on the Snake which rises in the Yellowstone Park and Jackson Hole country of Wyoming and winds across Idaho, have now been built. But a bitter battle is coming to a head in Congress this month over authorization for Hell's Canyon Dam, on the Oregon-Idaho border.

Idaho Power Company is bucking the project here. This company proposes to build five non-storage power dams in this section of the Snake river. Bureau of Reclamation proposes one big storage dam at the Hell's Canyon site, to develop twice as much power as the five smaller dams.

These Grand Coulee pumps raise the water from Lake Roosevelt, behind the Dam, for 280 feet to an equalizing reservoir. From this flows the water that will, in time, irrigate a million acres of new farmland in central Washington.

Conflicts Put Master Control Of Columbia River Years Off

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Grand Coulee Dam, Wash.—(NEA)—People in the Columbia River valley can give full bi-partisan support to one idea, anyway. They agree that everything possible should be done to develop their greatest natural resource, which is this mighty Columbia River.
There is a wide difference of opinion, though, on how it should be done and who ought to do it.
There idea of a Columbia River Valley "Authority" to run the whole works seems definitely shelved. All the states have rejected it—Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming.
The struggle to build the dam, cost-ine a little over $100 million. Yet behind its 564 feet of concrete, nearly half a mile wide at the top, will be a new lake 24 miles long, generating 285,000 kilowatts as it drives four generators.

Dam Will Inbound Water For Release In Autumn
The dam will do more than that. It will impound most of its water in the early summer, as the high mountain snows melt on the Great Divide. Then in late summer, fall and winter, when the flow over Grand Coulee and the dams downstream is low, Hungry Horse will release its water to "firm up" their power.
This is but another example of how water-master control of an entire river system can be applied for maximum benefits.

At Kallispell, to use a large block of the Hungry Horse power, Anaconda Mining Company will build the new aluminum plant authorized last year to increase defense production of this light metal. Other Hungry Horse power will go to Montana. Power Company on the east and to the Pacific coast power grid on the west.

Grand Coulee Dam itself, the world's largest concrete structure and the central project of the Columbia system is still a number-one tourist attraction, though it has been operating over 10 years.
It is the world's largest power producer—nearly two million kilowatts. But it is capable of being made bigger. The site for a third Coulee powerhouse is now being investigated.

Grand Coulee has cost about $750 million thus far. That is about what New York City has spent for its water supply system. Yet only one of Grand Coulee's 12 water pumps could supply as much water as New York uses every day.

These Grand Coulee pumps raise the water from Lake Roosevelt, behind the Dam, for 280 feet to an equalizing reservoir. From this flows the water that will, in time, irrigate a million acres of new farmland in central Washington.

NIGHT STAGE TO GALVESTON

Chapin — Miss Mildred Schone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schone of Chapin, became the bride of Myron L. Beard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beard of Arenzville, at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church of Chapin.

Rev. Harry A. Timm performed the double ring ceremony in a cathedral setting. The church was decorated with ferns, palms and baskets of daisies, mock orange and peonies. White gladioli were placed on the altar.

A prelude of organ music was played before the ceremony by Miss Elizabeth Paul. Waldron Paul sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white Palm Beach suit with matching accessories. She carried a white satin and lace covered prayer book, with streamers, adorned with a lavender orchid. Her white hat was trimmed with seed pearls.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Dean Stock, sister of the bride. She was attired in a royal blue suit with a corsage of red roses. Her accessories were white.

Gerald Beard, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Teal blue was the color chosen by the mothers of the bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Schone wore a silk dress of that shade, with white accessories. A suit was the attire of Mrs. Beard, who also used white accessories. Both had corsages of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the church with 150 guests present. The tables were decorated with pink roses and tall white candles. A three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was the centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Beard are graduates of Arenzville high school. After a brief wedding trip they will make their home at San Diego, Calif., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Navy. In December, 1952, he will receive his discharge after four years of service.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Jacksonville, Golden, Franklin, Macomb, Bluffs, Havana, Pittsfield, Beardstown and Baylis.

Salvation Army Receives Gift From Chicago

When the new $100,000 Salvation Army building eventually is constructed, it will be built from funds contributed in both large and small amounts from many hundreds of public spirited citizens. Most of the gifts, of course, will be made by local residents, but because the good work of the Army are a national byword the appeal of the Jacksonville post is likely to be heard and answered from faraway and unexpected places.

An example of this was received by Mayor Ernest L. Hoagland last week. He received what he termed "a heart-warming letter" from a G. P. Ballard of 2131 North Hudson avenue, Chicago. The letter speaks for itself. It says:

"Dear Sir: 'I was passing through Jacksonville this week and saw a poster that you and the city are trying to raise money for a (Salvation Army) home.

"I was pleased to know the Mayor is giving a helping hand, so here is my little bit. Wishing you all the success in the world.

Very Truly Yours,
G. P. Ballard"

Upon turning over to Major Henri Servais the check for $25 which the letter contained, Mayor Hoagland remarked, "there isn't much you can say about a letter like that. It is an inspiring thing to think about the generous spirit which prompts a person to such generosity for a community of which he is not a member."

Rock Covering For New Parking Area

Chip rock will be used as a temporary surface for the new municipal parking lot on South Mauvais-terre street, the council decided Monday night after hearing a recommendation by Kenneth Stapleton, engineer. The use of crushed rock will permit the early installation of parking meters, while a more permanent surface would require additional time.

Stapleton explained that a seal coat has been applied to the parking area, but that it is drying slowly and will not be ready for an asphalt surface for some time. By covering the lot with rock the city can proceed at once with installation of meters. The permanent topping will be laid around the meters within a year, according to a decision of the engineer and councilmen.

On motion of Alderman Merriman, seconded by Alderman Allen, the highway committee was instructed to revise plans and proceed with the work.

Reporting for the health committee, Alderman Brune said several companies were asked to submit proposals for furnishing a rotary distributor to be installed at the south side sewage disposal plant. The Pacific Flush Tank Co., Chicago, submitted the only proposal, which was $7,312. On motion by Alderman Brune and Allen the council voted to dispense with bids and to buy the equipment from the Chicago company.

Mayor Hoagland announced that the terms of Dr. Malcolm Stewart, Harry Oliver, and Dr. McKendree Blair as members of the Jacksonville Public Library board of trustees, end this month. The mayor reappointed the three men for new terms of three years.

The council voted on motion by Alderman Brune and Merriman to approve a new four inch water main which George Lukeman, Jr., proposes to construct on Edgemoor from Turner to Woodland. Lukeman said in his communication that he will dedicate the water main to the city upon its completion.

CWF Group Sees Film Strip On Mexican People

The last meeting of group two of the Christian Woman's Fellowship of the Central Christian church was held at the home of Mrs. Ray Sorrells, 1035 North Fayette street. Mrs. Jean Curtis, in charge of the program, presented Mrs. Sorrells who showed a film strip entitled "They Desire to be Filled" which is a story of the missions in Mexico and expressed by recordings together with the actual pictures depicting the life of the people of Mexico in their everyday surroundings. The program so impressed the group that they will recommend the purchase of the film by the Fellowship to be placed in the church library.

Mrs. Sorrells recently spent much time in Bloomington, Ind., taking a course on the presenting of such programs both in projection of film and in descriptive work with each subject.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served delicious refreshments. The meeting concluded the season before new groups reconvene in the fall.

There will be a short business meeting during which officers will be installed. A one act play, "The First Flag of the United States" will be presented.

Children Topic of WSCS Meeting at Brooklyn

The WSCS of the Brooklyn Methodist church met Wednesday, June 4 at the church with Mrs. Ida Benson leading the devotions and using the subject, "Let Little Ones Come." The group sang "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus."

Mrs. Tom Muntman gave the lesson on All Children Our Concern and the group sang Suffer Little Children.

During the business session pledge cards were passed and each member made a pledge for the coming year. Hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. Charles Sheppard, Mrs. Ira Story and Mrs. Ellis Brainer.

Social Meeting And Annual Breakfast for Sorority Chapter

The Zeta Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had a social meeting recently at the home of Marge Robinson with Carolyn Litchfield assisting.

Cootie was played with Donna Ward winning high score and Dennis Miller the low. Marge Bandy was awarded the door prize.

Members present were Carolyn Litchfield, Marge Bandy, Marge Choate, Joyce Christison, Sylvia Daniel, Jessie Colclasure, Margaret Murphy, Doris Wegehoff, Marian Lair, Louise Mills, Betty Streeter, Donna Ward, Mari Margaret Shanahan, Kay Hogan, Mary Roach and sponsors, Irene Lukeman and Esther Ingolia. Two guests were present, Virginia Billings and Dennis Miller.

Another chapter event was the recently held annual June breakfast at which Mrs. W. S. Dobbs and Mrs.

The national steel crisis has produced local repercussions it was revealed Tuesday morning when public school authorities announced that construction of the new high school gymnasium has been slowed down through delayed delivery of structural steel. Herbert Keadey of the Illinois Steel Bridge company, said "as soon as the steel starts coming through again we won't be long in finishing the building."

Keadey said some steel had been delivered before the steel strike affected deliveries. He added that once deliveries begin again "it will be a matter of only a few weeks before we complete construction."

He said he could make no predictions beyond that.

D. R. Blodgett, retiring superintendent of schools, said that despite the delay produced by lack of steel, construction has not come to a halt on the gymnasium. This week the floors are being laid, steps are being put in and plumbing fixtures are being installed.

"Except for the arrival of steel, things are moving along according to schedule," Dr. Blodgett emphasized.

The plan is to have the new gym ready for use by sometime next fall. The J.H.S. basketball crimsions, one of the state's "Sweet Sixteen" this spring, will have a brand new, completely modern home court next winter in their attempt to duplicate or improve upon this year's notable record.

Supt. Blodgett also announced that progress on the new Lincoln Elementary school, being built on West Independence avenue, is proceeding according to schedule and, unlike the gymnasium, no hitches have as yet developed to slow down construction. Target date for completion of the building is about Feb. 1.

Eventually, elementary school children residing north of the Wash Railroad tracks will attend classes in the new building.

Wanda Ward were hostesses. Spring flowers were used throughout the home. Attending were Marge Bandy, Rosemary Blazier, Marge Choate, Joyce Christison, Sylvia Daniel, Barb Gross, Marian Lair, Mary Roach, Betty Streeter, Muriel Taylor, Louise Mills, Marty Gray, Doris Wegehoff, Esther Ingolia, Alvahie McCarthy and Mrs. Howard Stevenson.

Nuptial music was played by Robert Wegehoff preceding the ceremony who also accompanied Miss Patricia Williams who sang "Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." A reception was held in Morgan Hall for the wedding party and close friends. A three tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served with punch to the guests by Mrs. Don Taylor, Miss Phyllis McDannald, Miss Beverly McGinnis and Mrs. Loyce Plank who baked the cake. THERE are all sorts of "drives" and "shifts" on the market.

Some still operate entirely by hand. Some depend on shifting gears, but do this automatically. Some feed the power through oil, but use a lock-out device at cruising speeds.

But we still think that Dynaflo* is the best of all for this simple reason:

The big idea of Dynaflo Drive is to make life easy for the driver.

In traffic, you can start and stop, slow down, accelerate with complete and infinite smoothness—because no gears have to shift, ever, in Dynaflo Drive. So there's no lurch, buck or bobble. Dynaflo always feeds power with a steady, willing swoop—at 3 miles an hour or 30—or as high as it's legal to go.

On hills, you get the same sure, steady, unfaltering power-feed for the same reason. No gears ever shift.

On a long day's drive, you can ride with wonderful freedom from tension—your foot relaxed on the throttle—because you always drive through oil.

And at any speed you get a smoother ride, in part because Dynaflo Drive provides such a smooth and gentle linkage between that mighty Fireball 8 Engine and the rest of the chassis.

But this is not all. Our service records show that Dynaflo also makes life easier for your bank account. It saves wear and strain on the engine, banishes the cost of clutch repairs, saves strain

PROMPT ACTION BY BLUFFS MAN PROTECTS HOME

Bluffs—The luck of being in the upstairs of his home Monday night when lightning struck and having proper equipment to fight fire probably saved George Krusa much expense and inconvenience.

Members of the Krusa family, who reside nine miles southwest of Bluffs, were all in bed asleep when the heavy rain came Monday night. Mr. Krusa arose to check windows on the second floor and discovered that lightning had entered the attic through the electric wires.

The insulation was destroyed and the surroundings caught fire. A recent purchase of a commercial fire balm was most effective in extinguishing the flame. The Bluffs fire department was summoned but was not needed upon arrival.

Veck Admits Mistake, Hornsby Is Ruffled, Marion Is Surprised

By Joe Kelley

Boston, June 10—(P)—Outspoken Rogers Hornsby was fired as manager of the St. Louis Browns today by Bill Veck, club president, who named Marty Marion as the team's new pilot.

"I blew one," said Veck in a huddle with baseball writers after making the change. "I shouldn't have signed him (Hornsby) in the first place."

"I had the change in mind for some time."

He contended Hornsby, one of baseball's all time greats, was "unreasonable" dealing with players.

"He doesn't consider them as individuals, only as players, something to be manipulated," said Veck.

"No one is going to tell me how to run a ball club," said Hornsby before taking off for St. Louis whence he will go to his home in Chicago.

"I'm not going to go for any of his screwy ideas."

"I'm really surprised," said Marion, who was fired after managing the rival St. Louis Cardinals last season.

"One reason I went with the Browns was because no one could say I was after the manager's job, not with an experienced fellow like Hornsby as manager."

Hornsby has a three-year contract which will be paid in full over an unspecified period.

Marion was signed for three years—to finish out this season as playing manager and for two additional years as bench manager.

Both Veck and Hornsby affirmed they parted friends.

Hornsby contended he and Veck came to the parting of the ways after an incident in New York last Sunday.

Veck said "No, that was just another incident, something to hang a hat on."

Hornsby said Veck called him from St. Louis Sunday ordering him to protest an umpire's decision.

"No one is going to tell me how to run a ball club on the field," said the Rajah.

"I carried out his orders and the umpire reminded me, as I knew, that a protest in the American League must be registered before the next pitch is thrown."

"I think I did a good job. The boys played well for me. We got off to a good start and had the crowd with us in St. Louis and that's what Bill wanted. I'm not sure at anybody."

The Rajah said he had no immediate plans.

Said Veck, "It's better to have 25 players and no manager than just a manager. Baseball is a team game. Things must be amicable and they weren't."

"I called Rogers Sunday and he said to me 'maybe you don't like my managing' and I said I didn't—that I'd come to Boston to talk with him."

"It's something I had to do and I'd do it again—it was my sainted mother."

None of the players seemed unhappy in a hasty poll made on condition there be no names used. Said one, "I woke up today with a bad headache. Well, the headache's gone now."

Marion said he planned no immediate changes but hoped to get a "set ball club—a lineup that will be more or less the same every day."

He also said he planned to have Cass Michaels play third, a post that has been handled by three or four players most of the season.

Browns Topple Red Sox 7-4 For Manager Marty

Boston, June 11—(Wednesday)—(P)—Marty Marion's American League managerial debut was an extended success tonight as his St. Louis Browns toppled the Boston Red Sox from first to third place by gaining a 7-4 victory. A series of three heavy thunder showers spread the game over four hours, 35 minutes.

Little Ned Garver, with timely help from Satchel Paige, managed to snap a six-game losing pitching string, thanks to a 1-hit attack that included homers by Bob Young and Bob Nieman, the latter's a two-run affair.

The setback, charged against Ike Delock, making his first pitching start for the Red Sox, dropped them behind the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians.

Paul Minner Pitches, Bats Cubs To 10-5 Win

Chicago, June 10—(P)—Paul Minner proved as potent a hitter as he did a pitcher here today in leading the Chicago Cubs to a 10-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in the only daylight match on the day's major league schedule.

Minner checked the Phillies on eight hits as he breezed to his sixth victory, but it was his hitting that stole the show. A left handed batter as well as pitcher, Minner belted his first 1952 home run into the left field bleachers.

This fourth inning round tripper, Minner's second hit of the day, broke a 3-3 deadlock as the Cubs continued to their thirteenth victory in the past 17 games.

Bosox-Senators Swap Pitchers

Boston, June 10—(P)—The Boston Red Sox tonight announced the trading of pitcher Randy Gumpert and Walt Masterson to the Washington Senators for pitcher Sid Hudson in a straight player swap.

All three hurlers are right-handers. Gumpert and Masterson each have 1-1 slates for this season while Hudson has a 3-4 record. Gumpert came from the Chicago White Sox in a deal which sent pitcher Chuck Stobbs and infielder Mel Hoderlein to Chicago. Masterson came to Boston from Washington in 1949 in a trade for pitcher Mickey Harris and outfielder Sam Mele.

Gumpert has worked 19 2/3 innings this year, giving up 15 hits, allowing five walks and 11 runs. His earned run average is 4.13. He worked in 10 games, one as a starter. Gumpert is 34 and had a 9-8 record last season.

SCHOOL AT THE POOL

Classes were never this much fun when most of you readers went to school. And the grinning, impish faces of the kids at right attest that the YMCA-Red Cross swimming classes being conducted daily at Nichols Park pool are popular.

About 400 children are attending the swimming classes at Nichols Park each weekday morning. Classes begin at 9, 10 and 11 o'clock.

Most of the pupils are children ranging from 10 to 15 years of age. Some adults, however, are taking advantage of this opportunity to learn to swim and are welcome to attend.

The kids at right are learning the proper method of kicking. Instructor Betty Caldwell keeps a watchful eye on her class.

The inset below shows the instructors and officials who run the program.

Pentagon May Be Forced To Write Rules For Mac

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The booming of Gen. Douglas MacArthur for keynote speaker at the Republican national convention may compel nervous pentagon lawyers to lay out political ground rules for the former Pacific commander.

The army's legal experts are known to have been tip-toeing for sometime around the question of whether MacArthur's activities have strayed beyond the bounds of military regulations that forbid officers on active duty to engage in political campaigning.

Up to now, all they worried about were MacArthur's speeches, statements and support of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination. But unless he resigned from the army ahead of time acceptance by MacArthur of any bid to keynote the GOP convention would lead to even more finger-pointing. For the regulations specifically ban "activity at political conventions" and "the making of political speeches."

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, June 10.—(AP)—Hog prices took their worst beating of the year today, pounded down mostly $1.00 a hundred pounds under several bearish factors.

The fresh supply was fully a third larger than the trade had expected. At the same time outside order buyers reduced their withdrawals well below the rate of recent weeks. And finally a Department of Agriculture report showed pork production last week to be some 20 per cent above the holiday week preceding, which had been the smallest of the year.

As a result prices ran $1.75 to $2.07 for most barrows and gilts, only a few leads and lots topping at $2.10. Sows brought $1.75 to $1.80. Such prices were the lowest since mid-May but even so there was an unsold holdover of 1,500 head at the close of the day's trading.

Some weakness also extended to other livestock classes.

Cattle were steady to weak. Steers, heifers, and mixed yearlings ranged narrowly from $30.00 to $35.00. Cows were $25.50 and below, bulls $28.00 downward, and weaners $37.00 and under.

Ewes and spring lambs held steady but old-crop lambs fell 50 cents to $1.00. The best of the latter took only $22.00. Springers reached $31.50, however, and ewes were $22.00 at their best level of the day.

Receipts on public sale also included an estimated 6,000 cattle, 300 calves, and 1,000 sheep.

Leaders taking care were Mrs. Mildred Musch, Mrs. Fred Malthy and Mrs. Harold Strickler and Twila.

New York Stock Market

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Steels and rails suffered today in a declining stock market.

The retreat came on the heels of the collapse late yesterday of negotiations to end the steel strike.

Losses in the two major divisions extended from fractions to between 1 and 2 points. Throughout the remainder of the list the decline was mostly fractional with a point fall about the worst.

Volume came to an estimated 1,200,000 shares as compared with yesterday 1,270,000 shares.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, Texas Co., Sears Roebuck, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, and Johns-Manville.

U. S. government bonds in the over-the-counter market were strong.

Death in the Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

THE STORY: Rosemary Curtis, a newspaper woman, goes into the Sierras for a vacation. As she stops for gasoline enroute, someone fires a rifle bullet into her car and she leaves that another woman has been murdered in the mountains. Someone also tries to stop her by cutting down a tree so that it fell across the highway.

MR. JAMES, wife of the proprietor of Gold Lodge, introduced me to the guests near the fire as I ate sandwiches and drank coffee from a tray. She herself was pleasant, business-like, tall and slender. But her face carried an expression of harassed weariness.

Her husband was a ruddy, stout man, smiling, but he had a sly, shifty glance. He wheezed slightly when he breathed.

The cook was a middle-aged, very stout colored woman named Rhumba Jones. She was shrewd, superstitious and kind.

Among the guests was a Mrs. Ordell, a pretty little woman, somewhat faded. I liked her on sight. I did not meet her husband until the morning after I arrived. But Mrs. Ordell told me he taught geology at the University.

Dr. David Roberts was a surgeon from San Francisco, tall, dark, good-looking, and pleasant.

Miss Hansen, a nurse from Fresno, was a Scandinavian girl, large, blonde, broad of mouth, wholesome.

Then there were three boys from the University, working at camp for the summer.

Jeff Edwards was lean, wiry, homely, with a disarming smile.

Dick Bannister was of football build, tall, heavy-shouldered, good looking.

Bob Martin was quiet, small and rather dull. He seemed peevish and irritable and entered the lodge just before I retired.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Alberts and their two small sons I somehow disliked. She was a bold-minded woman who talked loudly and seemed undisturbed by her two unruly sons.

Mr. Alberts was gifted unpleasantly with an opinion upon every subject and an annoying habit of finding laughable vulgarity in the most harmless remark.

12 Groups Seek Better City Garbage Disposal

Twelve local organizations joined forces at the City Hall Tuesday night in an effort to find the most satisfactory solution to Jacksonville's garbage disposal problem.

There were 25 representatives present from the Chamber of Commerce, Newcomers club, Jacksonville Woman's club and Junior Woman's club, Altrusa, Amvets and Auxiliary, V.F.W., Auxiliary, League of Women Voters, City Council, American Association of University Women and Business and Professional Women's club.

The meeting started at 8 p.m. Before it was over a city-wide committee was formed to study the situation and possibilities of improvement.

Reports LWV Findings
Mrs. Ernest G. Hildner, vice president of the L.W.V., acted as chairman. The findings of a League committee which has been making a study of the problem were reported by Mrs. Marvin Schuetz.

She described methods used in cities about this size, the financial problems involved. After reading the present city ordinance on the subject, she told of the land fill method, recommended by the state board of health.

A machine grinds, compresses and buries all garbage each day under the land fill method, she explained. There is no odor, she said, no danger from rats and flies. A study of the local garbage dump last summer disclosed, she stated, that there is one rat for every resident of Jacksonville.

A general discussion followed, and the group was organized. Mrs. Schuetz was elected permanent chairman.

Committees Appointed
Committees were appointed to investigate different aspects of the problem, the financial end, the legal procedures, the condition of the city dump, state health regulations, publicity. One group is to visit Wood River and Lincoln, where the land fill method is used. Other means of disposal will be looked into. Improvements in garbage collection will also be studied.

Alderman Byron Brune, chairman of health and sanitation for the city, was on hand at the session, as was Alderman Harry Merriman.

July 8 was set as the next meeting date, when the committees will report the information they have compiled.

The hope was expressed that any interested persons or organizations will contact Mrs. Schuetz if they wish to be included in the group.

MRS. MARY McMANUS, 5 SISTERS REUNITED IN NATIVE SCOTLAND

Mrs. Mary McManus "of Jacksonville, Illinois, U.S.A." was given a "real Scots welcome" by her five sisters recently, according to the Dunfermline Press. It was her first visit in 45 years to her native Scotland and to the "Auld Gray Town," Dunfermline.

Under a picture of the sisters the town newspaper published an account of their reunion. The five who greeted their sister were Mrs. Anne Taylor of Ardrossan, Miss Minnie Low of Edinburgh, Mrs. Belle Gray of Dollar, Mrs. Margaret Court of Dunfermline and Mrs. Jean Harper of Kinross.

"It's grand to be back after that long space of time," the paper quoted Mrs. McManus. "But do you know, I didn't recognize one of my sisters. As each of my sisters came into the house on Sunday, I was just flabbergasted. Of course they were all young when I went away. Mrs. Gray was only seven. It makes a lot of difference."

She "emigrated to the States" in 1907, the paper stated.

Back in Dunfermline, "what amused her most was the number of chimneys on the houses. I just couldn't get over my first sight of all those chimney cans," she remarked. With central heating so popular in America, chimneys, says Mrs. McManus, are usually confined to perhaps a small one to each house, but never anything like the formidable array which she sees in every part of Dunfermline."

Clippings from the paper in Scotland were brought to the Journal Courier office by her son, Leo McManus of 106 Caldwell street.

PROCEEDS TO SALVATION ARMY FUND

Pictured above is a portion of the hundreds of children and adults who attended the Tiger Bill Wild West show held Saturday afternoon at the V.F.W. home. The show was sponsored by the local V.F.W. post 1379 and all proceeds are to be turned over to the Salvation Army fund.

Seven hundred children and two hundred patients from the Jacksonville State Hospital saw the afternoon performance. Business and professional men made this possible through the purchase of a large block of tickets that were distributed to the children by the members of the Auxiliary. Jacksonville Trailway and Elm City buses furnished transportation for the children and patients to and from the show.

Modest, But Substantial—That's New Building Goal

Editor's Note—This is the first in a series of three articles describing the activities of the Salvation Army and its need for a new building. A campaign for funds is now underway.

By Charles Bruce
One floor and a basement—all chopped up—small, drab-looking rooms—faded wallpaper—bulges—cracks—even twisted window frames—put them all together and you have the present Salvation Army building on East Beecher avenue in Jacksonville.

As buildings go, it's a mighty poor excuse for one. If the humane, good-inspiring work done there since 1889 could be translated into terms of new building materials then an incredibly beautiful structure would smile its welcome to those who seek help within its walls.

The Salvation Army is not asking for "an incredibly beautiful" building, however. The purpose of the present campaign for funds for a new building is to replace the outworn buildings with a modest but substantial structure.

For 63 years the Salvation Army has been serving the needy and unfortunate of Jacksonville and Morgan county in cramped and inadequate facilities and has never before asked the citizens of this community for financial aid, except minimum operating expenses to do a job which most of us cannot, or would not care to do.

End Of Usefulness
Despite all the handicaps, the work has gone forward and people have been helped over and over again. But the fact remains that the present buildings—estimated to be between 90 and 100 years old—are approaching the end of their usefulness.

The $100,000 which is the goal of the campaign will provide for construction of a sturdy and attractive building in which the Salvation Army can carry on its ever increasing program of service.

Architects plans provide for a one story brick structure of modified "U" shape. On the east side facing West Douglas avenue and built on top of what is now the basement of the Assembly of God church will be the combination social hall, gymnasium and auditorium. Back of this room, which will also include a stage, are the boys and girls locker rooms. Shower rooms will be located in the basement. Immediately in back of the locker rooms will be the clothing room, where clothes given to the Army will be repaired and displayed for those who need them. The transient quarters, with baths, will be next to the clothing room.

Social Room Key
In the center of the "U" will be the main entrance flanked on the left side by the staff office and entering directly into the social room. This room will be the hub of all activities and will function exactly as it is named—a social room.

On the west side facing West Douglas avenue will be the chapel and the rear will be the quarters for the Salvation Army staff.

There'll be a large play area in the rear with a basketball court and indoor baseball diamond, and a special section for the smaller children.

Memorials Possible
Proportionate costs for each room planned for the new building have been estimated by the building committee so that memorial opportunities are offered groups or individuals who might wish to provide a permanent "living memorial" for a loved one, to commemorate a firm name or honor an individual or a group. Bronze plaques will mark such memorials.

Gifts to the Salvation Army New Building Fund may be paid over a period of three years and the amount paid each year will be deductible for income tax purposes.

If everyone in Jacksonville and Morgan county could go through the present building, as I did, and see for himself their sorry conditions, the obvious need for repairs that literally shout "help!", no man, woman, or child could fail to recognize the acute situation.

Miss Lois Marie Sample, William Hovey Wed

Alexander Church Provides Setting For Ceremony

The Alexander Methodist church was the setting for the wedding at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon which united Miss Lois Marie Sample, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leaddell of Alexander, to William D. Hovey, son of Mrs. Sadie Hovey of Loomi.

Rev. Irving Kenyon, pastor, received the vows in a double ring ceremony.

The ceremony was preceded by traditional wedding music. Mrs. Doris DeShara sang "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning," and "Because." During the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer. She was accompanied by Miss Mahala McGhee.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a sheer nylon moussette gown designed with a lace trimmed Queen Anne style collar. Dainty satin covered buttons formed a line to the long pointed torso. The long sleeves ended in points. A Chantilly lace trimmed flounce descended into the long flowing train. The dress was worn over crinoline.

Carries White Bible
The fingertip length veil of imported illusion edged in Chantilly lace, which matched that of the dress, was attached to a Juliet cap of laced illusion. The bride carried a white Bible covered with Chantilly lace and topped with an orchid.

Her attendants were gowned in identically styled dresses of maize nylon net. The fitted bodices had a self color flower motif of pressed velvet faintly sprinkled with gold dust. The small rolled collars and cuffs and the narrow tailored belts were of satin. The full double net skirts fell over taffeta foundations and were widely banded at the bottom with velvet flowered net. They were bouffant in style and were worn over crinoline.

They wore picture hats of the maize net. Mitts of the flowered net completed their costumes. The flowers they carried were colonial bouquets of iris, gladioli and carnations in colors that corresponded with their dresses.

Attend Bride
Mrs. Jeanette Marr of New Berlin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mesdames Jeannine Frank of New Berlin and Mildred Buell of Loomi, the bridegroom's sister, were bridesmaids.

Miss Janet Kay Jones, the flower girl, wore a floor length gown of blue organza. The ring bearer, Milton Stuber of Tremont, Ill., wore a white linen suit. They are cousins of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a dress of toast colored linen and lace with white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a dress of aqua linen trimmed in lace, with white accessories. She also had an orchid corsage.

The best man was Gene Hovey of Skokie, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Donald Leaddell, brother of the bride, and George Marr, Jr., brother-in-law of the bride.

Immediately after the wedding a reception for some 200 guests was held in the church basement. The table, decorated with gladioli and carnations, was centered with a tiered wedding cake surrounded by yellow gladioli.

Assist At Reception
Those helping serve at the reception were the Misses Pat Swisher, Irene Crawford, Bea Little, Martha Lorton and Mrs. Shirley Brookhouse and Mrs. Jo Anne Pescatelli.

The couple departed on a trip, the bride wearing a navy linen dress with navy and white checked Eton jacket and white linen accessories. The orchid which had adorned her Bible during the wedding ceremony completed her ensemble.

After June 15 Mr. and Mrs. Hovey will be at home at 405 N. Church street in this city.

Mrs. Hovey, a graduate of New Berlin high school and Brown's Business College here, is employed as cashier by the Jacksonville Savings and Loan association. The bridegroom graduated from the same high school and Western State Teachers College at Macomb. This fall he will be a teacher and coach at New Berlin high school.
